

NOT YOUR ORDINARY STUDY ABROAD

SIT's signature experiential education model and vast global network provide you with learning opportunities you won't find anywhere else.

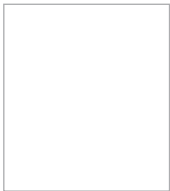

SIT students are discovering new species, meeting with refugees, learning from foreign government leaders, and going on expeditions to Antarctica. They also intern at globally recognized organizations, including United Nations agencies, the International Red Cross, and the Centers for Disease Control.

LONG TERM IMPACT

An SIT study abroad experience goes beyond a single semester, with a lasting impact that reveals new strengths and sparks undiscovered interests. SIT alumni carry forward the skills, knowledge, and global networks they build abroad to shape their academic and professional journeys. Many use their SIT research and internships as a foundation for senior theses or impactful careers, with numerous alumni earning prestigious awards.
